

Official Message from EVGA's CEO

Taipei, Taiwan - Friday, June 4, 2010 □

There are many rumors spreading around about EVGA at Computex. I'm surprised that EVGA is standing at the center of the stage under the spot light at the show. Thank you all for caring about EVGA and we will continue to deliver the best products, quality service and community experience as usual. Also, I'd like to bring to your attention; the rumors that you are reading are NOT completely accurate!

□ EVGA European operation re-org and re-load: EVGA has made the changes that are needed to meet what our customers have been asking for in Europe for a long time; better product availability, competitive pricing, better customer service along with a bigger community with the same programs that the US office offers. So, now EVGA is a global company with one culture.

□ EVGA Motherboard Team: Yes, there are some people that have left the EVGA motherboard team for personal reasons, it is NOT as the rumors claim, "the entire team." EVGA has proven to implement our core competence "Intelligent Innovation" to give a lot of exciting and surprising motherboard experiences on our products over the years. EVGA will continue invest and develop the best of the best motherboards to our community.

□ Sapphire's Rumors: As usual EVGA continues a strong relationship with NVIDIA, EVGA had a very successful launch with a full line of Fermi GPUs and the 2nd half of this year is going to bring even more excitement. There is no reason for EVGA to have a relationship with Sapphire.

Thank you everyone for your support and I hope this helps to clear up the rumors.

President and CEO
